

1. The `get_time` instruction loads 64 bits from the timer and a 64 bit offset from the registers

2. The additional 32 bit adder/subtractor is used in conjunction with the ALU to calculate a 64 bit value representing time.

3. It takes 2 cycles to store back the 64 bit value to registers, because we only have 1 write port.